

The new idea for a lighter no call list is ridiculous. I would get calls before I went on the no call list at all hours. I mean 9:30 at night or 6:00 in the morning. The worse is when my family is at the table and teh phone is always ringing. At least now we can eat with out interruption. Telemarketers also call on the weekends in the early mornings. I have three children. During the school week they are in bed before 8 and the phone ringing for someone asking me to buy something is horrifing. I still get at least one call a day asking me to buy or donate money, I remember when it was three to ten times a day. I personally hate answering the phone because it is people that dont take no for an answer and dont stop calling.
